DAVID BARKER'S POEMS.

AN APPRECIATIVE REVIEW BY D. R. LOCKE (PETROLEUM V. NASBY.)

The New York Independent of Sept. 28th contains a six-column review of the poetical works of the late David Barker, from the pen of the famous satirist whose name appears above. Mr. Locke seems to have a sympathy with the poetic spirit as keen as his preception of the idiosyncrasies of human nature, and in many of the writings of the late Bard of Exeter he finds strength and beauty entitled to a wider recognition than they have yet recieved. In his review Mr. Locke quotes quite freely from the poems, many of which first appeared in and nearly all of which have been published in our columns, and without reproducing the poetical quotations, we copy portions of Mr. Locke's article which we believe will be quite interesting to many who knew the unassuming poet whose work the writer so highly commends.

Two years ago there was laid under the sod in the State of Maine, a poet well beloved by his people, whose name was hardly known outside the state in which he was born. With more active ambition his songs might have been known as far as English is spoken and have gone down to posterity with those of Burns, the Ettrick Shepherd, and their kin, whom men love because they touch their heart to feeling, or speak what they cannot express. Theirs is the apostolic succession, for they carry the divine touch in their fingers, which are laid upon closed eyes, and men see the light on the daisy's "wee modest, crimson-tippit flower," or the sadness on the November hills of Ayr. They breathe upon men, and deaf ears are loosened to catch the music of the laverock's song, going wild between the splendor of Heaven and the love of earth, or the tender passions of the mother's song, as she rocks her baby beside the cottage-door. They sigh, and men find words for their yearning and voice for their grief, as "Highland Mary" has carried the lament of thousands on brae and sierra; and the last lines of "Annie Laurie" are charged with the devotion of lovers till they almost have the sacredness of an oath.

Of such was the man I named to-day. His work was known, if the poet was not. How many have read and reread "The Empty Sleeve," "My Child's Origin," "The Shepherd and the Lamb," and "The Under dog in the Fight," and cut these verses from newspapers and carried them about and read them to others, who never heard the name of David Barker.

* * * * *

When David was seven his father was found dead in the snow, killed by his team. As he says in one of his poems to his dearly-beloved brother Lewis:

"In that awful hour, my brother,
We had nothing left to lean upon
But God and a Roman mother."

There were ten children, a trifle of three hundred dollars, and a farm encumbered for more than it was worth to keep them with. But the mother would not see her home broken up and went to work with the older children to redeem the farm, and brought the family up with credit. In the thrifty farming town in which David Barker was born and lived such effort and simplicity were not rare; and it was from real life he drew the simple, moving touches of such side-pictures, as "Poor Widow Moore:"

He seems to have had a roguish, somewhat lawless and busy boyhood, and his poems have many allusions to the pranks of that time. He early knew that he must depend upon his own efforts; but he was a quick and ambitious scholar, and sent himself through Foxcroft Academy, then a school of no small repute, and became a favorite teacher. Teaching not being sufficiently remunerative, he learned the trade of blacksmithing, which he pursued for some years, till, his health failing, he studied law and became the legal adviser of his native town.

He was warmly esteemed by the profession of the state, for his gifts and humor; but it is doubtful whether he ever gave that attention to the law which would have won for him more than a mere local reputation. A mind like his would not lend itself without effort to the dry details of suits and proceedings. It is impossible to suppose the man who wrote "The Under Dog in the Fight" or "The Poet's Invitation" studying the points in a disputed land case with relish, or going over the settlement of an estate in the interest of some grasping old hunks. To him the green grass and running brooks of literature were ever more acceptable than the dry Sahara of the law, even though there were gold in its sands. If he went gold-hunting at all, it would be with as much enthusiasm for the glorious mountains and beautiful valleys in which the ore was found as for the gold itself. Besides, he had as strong a sense of justice, such a leaning toward and sympathy for the weak, and so bitter a hatred of wrong and oppression that very many briefs that would be taken eagerly by less conscientious men he would throw indignantly out of his window. Nevertheless, he made a modest competency, and was held in such esteem by his townsmen as to be sent to the legislature, where three of his brothers have held places; and Bowdoin College, unsolicited, sent him its degree for his poetical merits. Outwardly, his life was one of unpretending success.

But it had its shadings, and they were deep ones. His health was broken in youth and its morbid influence lent keenness to the strokes of disappointment that made them insupportable. He was the odd genius of the family, and recognized as such by all who knew him. At meetings of the bar, when the circle went wild over the splendid talents and bright spirits of his brother, Lewis Barker, prince of good company, the members were always ready for eccentric speech or more eccentric song from David which, by allusions to names and points familiar, always well managed and in keeping, sent them off in roars of delighted laughter. When he rose, the expectant auditors were always certain of something not only good, but new. His humor was his own. He never had occasion to borrow. His chance poems were copied and handed about from one to another, till he might be appropriately named "The Poet of the Vest-Pocket."

But alternating with this humor were moods of the most utter gloom. When one of these came he would go away from his fellows and bury himself for weeks, not allowing the approach of a soul, till it went off as suddenly as it came. In these solitudes he wrote, as if driven to madness, as grotesque and witty fancies as ever entered the head of man. These poems he never showed to mortal eye, and the few known, by which we know the others, were [illegible]

His longest poem and by all odds his best, which he calls "My First Courtship," falls into swing with these lines, which the laureate of this country will be the first with readiest grace to admit to a place with his own "Ezekiel's Courtship:"

Mr. Locke here gives nearly two columns of extracts from "Mr. First Courtship" interspersed with laudatory comments, and after quoting with high praise some of his patriotic poems, gives place to an admiring letter by "Shirley Dare," of whom he says:

I cannot avoid adding to this sketch of a man I loved only less than his work, the opinion of one of our coolest feminine critics—a woman who will not be accused of too much tenderness in her literary judgments—Shirley Dare, which I have permission to take from a private letter:

* * * * *

Coming from one who knows nothing of the man except as his work shows upon the printed page, and who could not be expected to sympathize with many of his enthusiasms, this is praise indeed. It shows that rough as was much of his work, and marred by impatience that scorned polish and finish, there is in it all the very essence of poetry, which can be beautiful despite defects.

David Barker lay down to his last sleep without knowing how well he had written or what good he had done the world. The men who built the palaces of India are unknown, but their pavilions remain. I am happy to have the opportunity of doing something to give to one sweet singer the guerdon he so richly deserved, though his voice is stilled forever.

NEW YORK. Sept. 16th, 1876.

INGERSOLL'S ELOQUENCE.

A THRILLING APPEAL TO HIS FELLOW SOLDIERS.

The Boston Journal remarks that "if any have thought that Col. Robert G. Ingersoll was merely a brilliant stump speaker, destitute of the genuine qualities of the great orator, they should read the following powerful passage from his address to the soldiers at Indianapolis:"

"The past rises before me like a dream. Again we are in the great struggle for national life. We hear the sounds of preparation—the music of the boisterous drums—the silver voices of heroic bugles. We see thousands of assemblages, and hear the appeals of orators; we see the pale cheeks of women and the flushed faces of men; and in these assemblages we see all the dead whose dust we have covered with flowers. We loose sight of them no more. We are with them when they enlist in the great army of freedom. We see them part from those they love. Some are walking for the last time in quiet woody places with the maidens they adore. We hear the whisperings and the sweet vows of eternal love as they lingeringly part forever. Others are bending over cradles, kissing babies that are asleep. Some are receiving the blessings of old men. Some are parting who hold them and press them to their hearts again and again, and say nothing; and some are talking with wives, and endeavoring with brave words spoken in the old tones to drive from their hearts the awful fear. We see them part. We see the wife standing in the door, with the baby in her arms—standing in the sunlight sobbing—at the turn of the road a hand waves—she answers by holding high in her loving hands the child. He is gone, and forever.

We see them all as they march proudly away under the flaunting flags, keeping time to the wild, grand music of war—marching down the streets of the grand cities—through the towns and across the prairies—down to the fields of glory, to do and to die for the eternal right.

We go with them one and all. We are by their side on all the gory fields—in all the hospitals of pain—on all the weary marches. We stand guard with them in the wild storm and under the quiet stars. We are with them in ravines running with blood—in the furrows of old fields. We are with them between contending hosts, unable to move, wild with thirst, the life ebbing slowly away among the withered leaves. We see them pierced by balls and torn with shells in the trenches by forts, and in the whirlwind of the charge, where men become iron, with nerves of steel.

We are with them in the prisons of hatred and famine; but human speech can never tell what they endured.

We are at home when the news comes that they are dead. We see the maiden in the shadow of her first sorrow. We see the silvered head of the old man bowed with the last grief.

The past rises before us and we see four millions of human beings governed by the lash; we see them bound hand and foot; we hear the strokes of cruel whips; we see the hounds tracking women through tangled swamps. We see babies sold from the breasts of mothers. Cruelty unspeakable! Outrage infinite!

Four million bodies in chains—four millions souls in fetters. All the sacred relations of wife, mother, father and child trampled beneath the brutal feet of might. And all this was done under our own beautiful banner of the free.

The past rises before us. We hear the roar and shriek of the bursting shell. The broken fetters fall. These heroes died. We look. Instead of slaves we see men and children. The wand of progress touches the auction-block, the slave pen, the whipping post, and we see homes and firesides, and schoolhouses and books, and where all was want and crime and cruelty and fetters, we see the faces of the free.

These heroes are dead. They died for liberty—they died for us. They are at rest. They sleep in the land they made free, under the flag they rendered stainless, under the solemn pines, the sad hemlocks, the tearful willows and the embracing vines. They sleep beneath the shadows of the clouds, careless alike to the sunshine or of storm, each in the windowless palace of rest. Earth may run red with other wars—they are at peace. In the midst of battle in the roar of conflict, they found the serenity of death. (A voice—"Glory!") I have one sentiment for the soldiers living and dead—cheers for the living and tears for the dead."

TEN BROECK'S VICTORY.

LEXINGTON'S CELEBRATED TIME BEATEN BY FOUR SECONDS—THE GREATEST EVENT IN THE HISTORY OF THE TURF—THE RACE AT LOUISVILLE.

The grounds of the Louisville, Kentucky, Jockey Club were very much crowded yesterday; thousands of home people and strangers gathering there to witness the famous Ten Broeck make his run against time. Fellowcraft made four miles in 1874 at Saratoga, 7:19¾. Since then it has been thought that his time could not be equalled and up to to-day it has not. The betting was about even last evening, but to-day, with a clear sky and a good track before them, the people of Kentucky put their money on the horse, letting strangers look after the time. Add was entered in the race with Ten Broeck, and in the send off led him half a length. He soon took the second place however, and from then steadily dropped behind. The mile was made in very slow time, 1:52¾. Harper, Ten Broeck's owner, stood at the string and waved his hat to go on. The jockey complied, and the second mile was made in 1:45¼ and the third in 1:46¼. At the commencement of the fourth mile Add was a dozen lengths behind. A new horse now joined in the race, and, running up alongside Ten Broeck, the two galloped along together to the quarter-mile, when Ten Broeck shot forward and was never again behind. As he came down the finish, the thousands, who had been as quiet as possible, now feeling that Fellowcraft's time would soon be wiped out, gave forth loud, long, and enthusiastic cheers. The last mile was made in 1:50⅜ the entire distance in 7:15¾, or three and three-quarter seconds quicker than Fellowcraft's time, and four seconds quicker than Lexington's time at New-Orleans in 1855. Mr. Frank Harper was congratulated by hundreds amid wild scene of dancing, shouting, hat throwing, etc. Will Walker rode the victor and Bobby Swim was on Add, who on the finish, was at the distance pole. An offer of $120,000 for Ten Broeck has been rejected.

For the second race, a grand sweepstake, for two-year olds, dash of one mile, $100 entrance, winner to have half the gate receipts, there were five starters. Springbranch, Belle of the Meade, Eva Shirley, McWhirter, and Baden Baden. Bell of the Meade won in 1:44¾, Baden Baden second, McWhirter third. The second and last race, three-fourths of a mile heats, purse $150, for all ages, was won in two straight heats by Eastern Planet, Georgie Bowman second, Joe Rhodes third in the first heat, second heat, Tillie Brent second, George Bowman third. Time—1:16¼ 1:17¼.

STATE NEWS.

Androscoggin.

Wednesday morning Mrs. J. B. Hill, resident on Goff street, Auburn, found that some one had cut a piece out of the barn door in the night. Beside the opening she found her trusty watch dog standing guard, his head covered with blood. On examination it was found that some one had thrust a knife into the animal's neck. It is inferred that some rascal attempted to break into the premises, cut a hole in the door and was attacked by the dog, which he knifed and then fled, finding the dog was making too much noise to allow him further to prosecute his investigations.

The cost of manufacturing plain cotton goods in Lewiston now is about 28¼ cents per lb. It costs about 10¾ cents for labor and general expenses, and 17¼ cents for cotton and supplies.

LICKING THE HAND THAT SMITES

The absolute servility of the Northern Democratic press toward the Southern rulers of the party is calculated to excite the disgust of all self respecting persons One of the latest exhibitions of it is the Boston Post, which editorially excuses and palliates the summary removal of disabled Union veterans about the House of Representatives and the filling of their places by ex-rebels, and which so far challenges the notorious facts as to declare

The Democratic policy was to have all sections fairly represented in the House offices and they acted in the same Union spirit that characterized the distribution of the heads of Committees

For unqualified coolness that beats any patent refrigerator There has been so much paltering and evasion on these two subjects that it may be worth while to examine the actual facts First as to the policy of having all sections fairly represented 'in the distribution of the heads of Committees'

There are in all forty four standing committees in the House, of which number thirteen are of the merest routine character such as Mileage Accounts, eight separate committees on expenditures in the several Departments etc while there are thirty-one committees which shape and influence the legislation of the House Using the census of 1870 as a basis—and the increase of population since then has been much greater in the North than in the South—we find the chairmanships of the thirty-one important committees of the House, as reported in the Congressional Directory distributed in this Congress as follows

	Population	Chairmanships
New England States	3,487,924	None
Middle "	8,810,806	[illegible]
Western "	11,245,635	7
Pacific	693,661	None
Total Northern States	24,238,026	10
Southern States	13,877,615	21

There can be no Democratic quibbling about the classification of the States given above as we have accurately followed that of the New York World Almanac for 1876. And in the face of such an exhibit the Boston Post has the effrontery to talk of the Union spirit manifested in the "distribution of heads of Committees"! Twenty-four millions of people in loyal States are given ten chairmanships, and thirteen millions of people in the South are given twenty-one! New England with its teeming industries, its culture, ability and 3,487,924 inhabitants has not a single chairmanship in the ex-Confederate Congress, while Virginia Missouri and Arkansas with but 3,430,929 are represented at the head of no less than eight of the leading committees The great States of New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey, with 8,810,806 population, have but three chairmanships in all, while Kentucky and Missouri have four each. For a Northern Democrat to indorse such an apportionment is to roll shamelessly in the dirt There is no getting away from the record or hiding it from sight There is the glaring spectacle presented of the popular branch of the Legislature of a Nation but recently struggling with civil war, giving to a section lately in rebellion and having but about one-third of the population the chairmanships of more than two-thirds of the important committees which control the policy of the House

Now about the "Union spirit" as displayed in the summary changes made in the subordinate offices of the House As there has been so much of Democratic equivocation on this point, we quote the record as given by the Concord Monitor, in reply to a so-called 'Address to Democratic Soldiers and Sailors" The facts speak for themselves

An examination of the record will show that there were discharged from the doorkeeper's department, 23 Union soldiers from the clerk's office, 19 Union soldiers from the post office, 33 Union soldiers from the capitol police 2 making 77 Union soldiers discharged by the Democratic House since its organization last December instead of 23 as above stated A number of these soldiers were disabled in the service And all of them were doing their duty faithfully and well They were removed because they were Republicans and there were appointed in their places as far as can be ascertained, in the doorkeeper's department, 19 Confederates, in the clerk's office, 10, in the post office, 14 capitol police, 1, and 3 committee clerks—making 47 Confederate soldiers appointed. In the P O department nearly every man discharged served in the Union army, and with two exceptions every man appointed was a Confederate Worse than all else, this Confederate "Reform" House voted down a proposition to give, in the distribution of places within its province, preference to well qualified Union soldiers over soldiers of the late Confederate army

In view of these facts is there not cause for wonder and amazement that there can be found in all our land a single Union soldier, Democrat though he may be, who can endorse so infamous an address?

The intense "loyalty" of the Democrats of Texas is exhibited by the fact that they have re-nominated all their Representatives in Congress except one, and that one among the ablest men from the South, who has been set aside solely because he refused to take an oath of allegiance to the Confederate States during the war John H Reagan, one of Jeff Davis' Cabinet officers is promptly renominated, but John Hancock, who remained loyal to the Union, is deemed by Texas Democrats unfit to represent them in the National Congress. How many more of such proofs do the Northern people require to convince them of the spirit that animates the Southern Democracy?

The vocabulary of the Maine Standard is more curious than pleasing. It speaks of the editor of a contemporary journal as one "who revels in the slime of foul detraction as a hog delights to wallow in his filth. Low and vile both by instinct and education in the slums of society, he is incapable of becoming anything better than a putrid excrescence on the profession" There is much more of the same kind where this comes from. Possibly it is looked upon as rhetoric in the Kennebec valley, but to the reader elsewhere it suggests the thought that the Standard itself is an "excrescence upon the profession," and one to which ugly epithets might with justice be applied —[Portland Press.

CONFEDERATE HATRED OF NEW ENGLAND

The New England Democrats who have been and are aiding toward a restoration of the Southern Confederates to the full control of our National affairs, must feel a curious sense of satisfaction in the indications given by Southern speakers and papers of the treatment that New England interests might expect at their hands Here is a gem from the Democratic Richmond (Va) Whig

New England has had her day The Middle States and the Western States are tired of the tribute paid to her, and that being wanting, "Pilgrim Rock" will be all that is left to New England. Mercenary, selfish and cruel, she will then, as oftentimes before, reassert her right to leave the Union, but we repeat, we cannot, we will not let her go, She has gathered wealth from the prosperity of the country, she must now take her portion of its poverty

And here is another from that unreconstructed rebel organ the New Orleans Picayune

Within fifty years the spider will weave his web over the looms of Lowell and the owl take up his solitary habitation in the deserted factories of Lynn. Within fifty years Texas will cast double the electoral vote of New York, and the import duties of New Orleans will exceed those of all the ports of New England combined We repeat, the South is going to be the dominant section in this Union, it foresees the fact, and no section would more earnestly oppose the secession of any other

The policy thus foreshadowed is one of revenge upon the loyalty of New England by legislation to build up the South at the expense of the National Treasury and by such proscription and persecution of our section as would prove beyond endurance The threats about opposing our 'secession" can have no other meaning New England Democrats must feel proud of their share in such a programme

AN INDEPENDENT

[From the Boston Traveller]

Charles Anderson Dana, of the New York Sun is the boss reformer of the period When he was connected with the New York Tribune, he wrote terrible exposures of Tilden's corrupt election practices He also wrote a very eulogistic 'Life of General Grant, But Horace Greeley saw through Dana at an early day and "bounced" him Equally clear as to Dana's rottenness, President Grant refused to make him Collector of New York, Then Dana left the Republican party and became a reformer He furnishes the Democratic and assistant Democratic organs with a good deal of the scandal against Republicans which they haven't the audacity to originate He supports Tilden, he loves Adams, he thinks the Republicans are not good, but where he is best known he is most shunned Politically and socially he is an exile He is looked upon as an Ishmaelite. But he is a "reformer"

SENATOR BLAINE IN CINCINNATI

IMPOSING TORCH LIGHT PARADE—TEN THOUSAND PEOPLE FOR AN AUDIENCE—SPEECHES BY SENATOR BLAINE AND HON. WILLIAM P FRYE

(Special to N Y Times

CINCINNATI Sept 30 Hon James G Blaine and William P Frye addressed an immense audience here this evening on the issues of the campaign Senator Morton, of Indiana, was announced to speak, but was recalled to Indiana this afternoon by a despatch stating that his presence was necessary at once The torch-light procession which paraded the streets before the meeting was admitted by everybody to have been the largest and finest that has been seen in the city since the time of the Wide-awakes in 1860 It consisted of nearly five thousand voters, splendidly uniformed, and was fully one hour passing a given point, marching four abreast The procession was headed by Hon Alexander C Sands, of the Times, mounted on an immense elephant, bearing a torch The elephant was gayly caparisoned, the covering bearing appropriate mottoes Nearly one-fourth of the procession was composed of colored voters, who carried torches, and with their expensive uniforms presented a fine appearance The streets along the line of march were lined with spectators, and the enthusiasm ran higher than at any time for years The procession was admitted by both parties to surpass, both in numbers and appearance, that of the opposing party on Thursday night, when every effort was made for the greatest rally of the campaign A special feature of the parade was the entire absence of persons not voters the procession of the opposing party being made up to a considerable extent of boys and persons under age Every man who carried a torch to-night will deposit a ballot for the Republican nominees at the October and November elections

The speaking occurred on Custom House square in front of the new Government buildings, now in process of erection on Fifth street, adjoining Fountain square and the Esplanade The large space was packed with an intelligent assembly of the voters of Cincinnati and the adjoining towns, many having come in on the late trains to listen to James G Blaine Fully ten thousand persons were on the ground and the adjoining streets all leaning anxiously forward to catch the words of the great orator The assemblage, considering its size was an extraordinary one It was composed of the most intelligent and representative portion of the city's population, a vast amount of wealth and intellect of the city and adjoining country being represented

The speech of Mr. Blaine fully one and a half hours long, was pronounced the most effective of the campaign thus far. Terse, impassioned and pointed, it dealt fairly and honestly with the issues of the campaign, and the inevitable results of the return to power of the Democracy A considerable portion of the address was devoted to the dissection of Tilden's record, and especially his connection with Tweed and the New York Democracy The entire falsity of his claims to position or credit as a reformer were clearly shown and his record in relation to the New York frauds especially held up before the audience. Special attention was given to his tax record, and the entirely unsatisfactory answer to the charges regarding his perjury and false income returns were delineated with great force. His letter of 1868 was also read and commented upon with telling effect. The speech was remarkably free from that which the opposing party are pleased to term "Bloody shirt oratory," and in its calm, clear, and impartial discussion of the question in hand was by far the most convincing to the more intelligent class present of any delivered here this season

Mr. Blaine was followed by Mr. Frye, member of Congress from Maine, who spoke for fully an hour to the vast audience. His address was marked, and great enthusiasm resulted among his hearers Much disappointment was felt among those present at the failure of Senator Morton to be present. An especial interest was felt in Blaine's speech, it being the first delivered by that gentleman here, upon the battle ground of the late convention in which he so nearly obtained the position upon the ticket which Mr. Hayes now occupies This point, although not directly referred to by Mr. Blaine, was made the more conspicuous in the minds of his audience by his brilliant eulogy of his successful opponent, whom he characterized as a man of pure character and of the highest honor, and eminently fit to lead the Republican Party to victory in this the Centennial year. Altogether the meeting was a great success, and even at this late hour the streets are thronged with people discussing the speech and the procession.

GOV TILDEN'S JIGGOO.

[From the Burlington (Iowa) Hawk Eye.]

Gov. Tilden's explanation of his tax crookedness doesn't mend matters much It reminds one of the man who set up a blacksmith shop and waited for customers. Presently there came a Granger to have his horse shod, and the self-taught blacksmith took a bar of iron and began to pound out a horse-shoe. He worked till his customer's patience and his own coke were alike almost exhausted and failed to produce anything remotely resembling a horse-shoe. "Hold on, here," he cried to the disgusted customer, "don't go away yet, let me make you a nice hedge-hook." And he pounded away until he all but flattened out the anvil, and made nothing that resembled a hedge-hook any more than the first attempt looked like a horse-shoe. "Now, don't go off mad," the persevering mechanic called to his weary patron, 'just hold your horses half a minute, I've got just enough iron left to make a jiggoo." He heated the iron, pounded it a little on this side and that, turned it one way and bent it the other, and then handed it to the wondering farmer with a triumphant "There!" "Well," asked the patron, "what's this?" "It's a jiggoo" "And what in thunder is a jiggoo, and what is it for?" "I'm blowed if I know," said the smith, "but that's the prettiest one you ever saw beat out on an anvil, and I know it. Take it along" We don't know what Uncle Sammy started out to make with that explanation of his, but it has developed into the most perfect jiggoo of the Centennial year

The Commercial quotes from an interview reported by the N. Y. Sun, in which Tilden is credited with estimating his majority in New York State at 75 000, and perhaps higher When such wild boasting as that is put forth by the Democratic candidate, it is evidence of desperation We will put a pin in at Mr. Tilden's 75,000 prediction and will see how it looks alongside the Republican majority that New York promises to give in November

Bion Bradbury, counsel for the plaintiff writes to the Argus in defence of Judge Clifford's decision in the Dow case, saying that it was on law points and not on the merits, and that a certificate of division of opinion signed by Judge Clifford and Judge Clark has been made to carry the case to the full Supreme Court

COLORADO TO-DAY The new State of Colorado holds its first election to-day, to choose a Governor and other State officers, three Judges of the Supreme Court and a Legislature which will have the election of two United States Senators Both parties claim the State

NEW PUBLICATIONS

MERCY PHILBRICK'S CHOICE This is the first volume of the 'No Name Series" of novels, which Messrs Roberts Brothers, Boston, are now placing before the public The name is most appropriate from the fact that the volumes will be the production of the most eminent writers of the day, and the authorship in each case is to remain an inviolable secret. The first work is one which will be eagerly sought by novel readers, and emanating as it does from the pen of a successful fiction writer, it will be found of more than ordinary interest to those who may try to determine from the style of the writer and the prominent features of the story who wrote it It is a good, clear cut story, its characters finely drawn and strongly contrasted, and written in a style as pleasing as it is different from the large mass of novels now abroad The volume may now be obtained of Messrs D Bugbee & Co Price, $1

EVERY-DAY TOPICS This volume, from so distinguished a writer as Dr J G Holland, will undoubtedly meet with as popular a reception as has been accorded his writings heretofore The articles comprising the volume have all appeared during the last five years in SCRIBNER'S MAGAZINE, of which Dr Holland is the editor, and were selected from the large number which he has prepared for the Magazine during that time They embrace a series of essays under the following headings Culture, Literature and Literary Men, Criticism, The Popular Lecture Personal Dangers, Personal Developments, Preachers and Preaching, Christianity and Science, Revivals and Reforms, Christian Practice, The Church of the Future The Common Moralities Woman, Woman and Home, Amusements, The Temperance Question, Social Intercourse, Town and Country, The Rich and the Poor, Politics and Political Men, American Life and Manners Scribner, Armstrong & Co, Publishers For sale at Messrs D Bugbee & Co's Price $1 75.

Search being made a large quantity of the articles stolen from the road, as well as from private parties, were found. Both parties are in jail. The goods were taken from the cars in the night and carried to Isaac's house.

Giles is a desperate character and was badly wounded recently by Deputy Marshal Gibson in resisting arrest.

TERRIBLE, MYSTERIOUS MURDER.

AN OLD MAN KILLED AND ROBBED.

NO CLUE TO THE MURDERERS.

Particulars of the Shocking Affair.

WORCESTER, Mass., Oct. 2. A horrible and mysterious murder was committed in the east part of Shrewsbury, 6 miles from here, to-night. The victim was John Bullard, a man about 65. He, with his brother, both unmarried, lived in a house alone, carrying on the farm. About 7 o'clock John was left alone in the house, the brother going to a store a mile distant. He was gone about an hour, and on returning was presented. John was lying on the floor and his body covered with blood. The head was nearly severed from the body and long deep cuts were visible about the head and face. The body was also badly cut and blood was still flowing from the numerous wounds. Lying by the side of the body was a large hatchet with which the terrible murder was committed, and the depth of the murderous wounds clearly indicated that it was wielded by a powerful man.

The Object

Is supposed to have been money. Last week the man sold a cow for $50, and this afternoon received a similar sum, proceeds of the sale of some calves. This money is missing, and was undoubtedly taken by the murderers. No clue has yet been discovered, but the officers are making an active search.

THE INDIANS.

A Correspondent's Review of Crook's Campaign.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2. A long letter reviewing Crook's campaign, by a correspondent who was with that army, closes by saying the ruthlessness with which Crook has subjected his army to needless suffering, hardship and privation and has sacrificed the property of the army to the accomplishment of no adequate object, should provoke an inquiry which should be conducted in the light of martial law.

All Quiet at Fort Peck.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2. A despatch received at the Indian Bureau from the Agent at Fort Peck Agency, Montana, says the Indians at that point are peaceful and quiet. A few bands of hostiles have appeared near the Agency, but started north for the British possessions without any trouble.

NEW YORK STATE.

The Fall Meeting at Jerome Park.

JEROME PARK, Oct. 2. The Fall meeting of the American Jockey Club opened to-day. The weather is clear but rather cold for horses. The track is in very good condition. The second race for the Jerome stakes, for three-year olds, of $100 each H. F., with $1500; second horse to receive $300 out of the stakes; 43 nominations; two miles. At the start Brother to Basset shot away ahead, and kept the lead all the way round with varying distances, and won by a couple of lengths; Sunburst second. Red Coat third, and Fiddlestick last. Time 3:47 3-4.

NEW YORK CITY.

Business Prospects.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2. The Post's money article says mercantile paper is quoted at 4 and 6 per cent. with the bulk of transactions at 5 and 5½ per cent. The increase in the volume of trade is not fully reflected in the market for mercantile paper, for the reason that a much larger part of the business than formerly is now done for cash—that is for 10 and 30 days' credit with 6 per cent. off for 10 days and 5 per cent. for 20 days. Collections are excellent and from every section of the country report is that business is more active and satisfactory than for years. Stocks of goods all over the country are small and prices firm with a tendency upwards.

GEORGIA.

The Fever Check.

AUGUSTA, Oct. 2. There was a heavy frost here and at Montgomery this morning.

CONNECTICUT.

The Town Elections.

HARTFORD, Oct. 2. The town elections occurred in this State to-day. The vote of these elections was always small compared with the State elections. The principal political interest is in the choice of Selectmen and Town Clerks, who constitute a Board of Appeals in matters connected with the registration of electors. So far as heard from in this Circuit the gains from last year are in favor of the Republicans.

The Constitutional amendments have been carried, preventing an increase of the members of the Legislature in new towns of less than 2,500 inhabitants; making common pleas judges' terms 4 years; city judges, two; and Probate judges, two years; making the compensation of members of the Legislature, $3 and mileage; erasing the word "white" from electoral qualifications. Most of the towns voted for liquor license.

For the Middle and New England States: Falling barometer, increasing westerly winds backing to southerly, rising temperature, increasing cloudiness and possibly succeeded by occasional rains in the northern portions.

FOREIGN NEWS.

TURKEY.

The Peace Conference.

LONDON, Oct. 2. A Paris special says Russia makes two conditions in acceding to the idea of the conference. First, the conference must be held in a neutral city. Second, it is to be composed of Ministers of Foreign Affairs. None of the Powers will object to these conditions now. If the Porte only grants an armistice the Powers are really to undertake a peaceful settlement.

Francis Joseph to the Czar.

A Vienna despatch says the reply of Francis Joseph to the Czar's note will not be made until the Porte's answer to the peace proposals is received. It seems now that Andrassey will oppose joining Russia in the occupation of Turkish provinces if Austria finds support in her refusal.

The Russian Army Prepared for War.

A despatch from Berlin says a considerable portion of the Russian army has received orders to be ready for immediate concentration. The cavalry and field artillery are now on a war footing, and the infantry ready to march.

The Czar's Servian Policy.

A Berlin despatch says the Czar proposes that Servia shall retain her present independence under Russian Generals. Notwithstanding the serious steps taken there is a general conviction that Russia does not wish to go to war. The Austrian answer will probably refer the question of military occupation to the joint decision of the guaranteeing powers. In a parley which preceded the Czar's letter, the Russian diplomatists left no doubt as to the kind of independence they wished accorded to the semi-Christian provinces. These provinces are to be like Servia and Roumania, all but independent under a Christian Government, supported by Christian soldiers, having no connection with the Porte except financially.

The Turks to Resume the Offensive.

The Porte has threatened to hold Roumania responsible for permitting the passage through her territory of Russian volunteers. The Roumanian Premier intends shortly to proceed to the Russian court. The Porte has informed its representatives abroad that the Turks, because of incessant attacks on the part of the Servians, will resume the offensive.

Fighting Friday and Saturday.

LONDON, Oct. 2. A telegram from Belgrade says a despatch from the headquarters of the Army of the Morova announces that Friday the Turks from Schiljegowatz attacked the Servians on two sides and fighting continued all Friday. In the evening both sides maintained their positions. Fighting was resumed Saturday. The Servians sustained considerable loss. The Russians displayed great bravery. Two Servian and six Russian officers were killed.

A Rumor.

A rumor has reached Belgrade that Turkey will accept the peace conditions provided Servia be made to do so likewise. Four hundred Russians arrived at Belgrade Saturday.

Turks Repulsed.

An official depatch says 20,000 Turks with 40 cannon, attacked the Servian army Saturday, near Gretchin. They were completely repulsed with heavy loss, after 12 hours fighting.

Montenegro's attitude.

RAGUSA, Oct. 2. The Montenegrin Government is understood to be prepared to accept terms of peace based on an extension of territory although the people favor a continuance of war.

Thursday's Battle.

LONDON, Oct. 2. A depatch from the Turkish headquarters says Thursday's battle both as regards losses and numbers engaged was decidedly the greatest of the whole war. The Servian main attack was against the Turkish left under Hafiz and Ali Pasha, in order to cut off the Turkish retreat to Nich. Sixteen Servian battalions also crossed the Drahevac and advanced by way of Jescia against the Turkish right. This double flanking movement completely failed, and the Servians by noon were driven back at all points with great loss. They subsequently renewed the attack on the Turkish left three times, but were on every occasion repulsed with great loss. The Turks having kept on the defensive, their loss was only 350.

IRELAND.

Drowned.

CORK, Oct. 2. A ferry boat was swamped Saturday evening in Youghal harbor. 14 persons were drowned—nearly all farmers and their wives.

FRANCE.

To Resume his Duty.

PARIS, Oct. 2. Gen. Ignatieff, Russian Ambassador at Constantinople, who has been on leave of absence, some time past, leaves Crimea to-day to resume his duties.

Deputies Elected.

Four Republicans were elected in various departments yesterday, to fill vacancies in the Chamber of Deputies, also two Bonapartists were elected, whose previous elections were annulled by the Chamber.

ROBBING A POST OFFICE. Alberto Bruno, of Frankfort, was brought before Commissioner Hamlin on Saturday, charged with breaking and entering the post office at Prospect, and stealing postage stamps. At the hearing he was found guilty, and yesterday held to bail in one thousand dollars to appear at the December term of the District Court of the United States, at Portland. Not furnishing the required bail he was committed to the jail in this city.

A CHANGE. We have noticed in our exchanges that business in other parts of the State is looking up a little in all the departments of trade, and upon inquiry we find the same feeling in this city. The wholesale grocers did as large a business last month as they did during "better" times. The lumber dealers have been receiving a large number of orders within the past three weeks. There seems to be a better feeling, and business men are beginning to look more cheerful and feel more hopeful.

FUNERAL SERVICES. The funeral services of the late Hon. G. W. Pickering were held yesterday afternoon. Prayers were held at the house at which Rev. Mark Trafton officiated. The remains were then taken to the church, where services were held, consisting of singing, reading of the Scriptures and prayer. Rev. S. P. Fay, the pastor of the church, officiated. The music by the choir was particularly sweet and appropriate. The singers were Mrs. Crowell, Mrs. Sawtelle, Messrs. Sisby and Crowell. At the grave Rev. Mark Trafton [illegible] large, representing the leading business men of Bangor. The bearers were Charles Stetson, Esq., Amos M. Roberts, Esq., E. S. Coe, Esq., Charles Hayward, Esq., John S. Ricker, Esq., Messrs. W. J. Webb, Isaac Merrill, W. F. Shaw, Andrew C. Sawyer, and Abel Hunt. The floral decorations at the house were very elaborate and beautiful. The large attendance of friends and relatives was only a slight indication of the esteem in which Mr. Pickering was held.

HUSKINGS. Now is the season for huskings and we feel truly envious of our country friends who are having such jolly times in holding huskings. But these good times are not always confined to the country; occasionally some thoughtful farmer sends to Bangor for an invoice of jolly people, and he is always sure to get just the crowd he sends for. This was the case last Friday, when about thirty ladies and gentlemen from this city attended a husking at Mr. North's in Kenduskeag. The large party of friends who assembled, numbering 150, husked corn from 7:30 until 10 o'clock, when they adjourned to the house and partook of a bountiful and substantial supper, which they did ample justice to. We hear that one Bangor gentleman distinguished himself as a bean-eater. He hadn't been home from Muster a great while, and was therefore in good training. Some of our citizens were a little verdant in regard to the customs of this celebration, but the fair ladies of Kenduskeag found them apt scholars, for they soon discovered the peculiar virtue and worth of a red ear. The festivities were kept up until a late hour. The eighteen who went up in the Cambridge had a beautiful moonlight ride home. One gentleman ate such a hearty supper that he did not relish doughnuts on his ride home. On the whole it was a splendid time, and those who went are loud in their praises of the reception given them. They solemnly declare that they will never decline an invitation to a husking.

Police Court.

In the Police Court yesterday Patrick Shaughnessy and Michael Hayes were up for drunkenness, and each was sentenced to 30 days with a suspended mittimus.

THE MACHINE WAS WORN OUT.

Why? Not because it was not well built, but it was wrongly run. Thousands of men who have run down long before their threescore and ten years are accomplished, might have been renewed into sprightliness and vim if they had tried the well known PERUVIAN SYRUP, which contains among its compounds the Protoxide of Iron, so combined that it assimilates with the blood and invigorates the whole system. This syrup has proved efficacious in thousands of cases, and will do everybody good who uses it. All druggists keep it.

A FEW THINGS THAT WE KNOW. We know that a disordered stomach or liver produces more suffering than any other cause. We know that very few physicians are successful in their treatment of these disorders. We know that DaCosta's Radical Cure will, without the shadow of a doubt, almost immediately relieve and permanently cure all of these distressing symptoms. We know of thousands who are willing to testify that what we say is true to the letter. We know that if you will give it a fair trial you will let us add your name to the "cloud of witnesses." Will you give it a trial, and do it now? Trial size only 25c. Sold by Wm. E. Mann and J. F. Patten, Bangor. Folsom Bros., Oldtown. R. B. Stover and A. F. Page, Bucksport. Professor Parker's Pleasant Worm Syrup is perfectly safe and extremely palatable. No physic required. Costs 25 cents. Try it. deow may26

To Consumptives. CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED.
SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP,
SCHENCK'S SEA WEED TONIC,
SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS,
Are the only medicines that will cure Pulmonary Consumption. Frequently medicines that will stop a cough will occasion the death of the patient; they lock up the liver, stop the circulation of the blood, hemorrhage follows, and in fact, they clog the action of the very organs that caused the cough. Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia are the causes of two-thirds of the cases of Consumption. Many persons complain of a dull pain in the side, constipation, coated tongue, pain in the shoulder-blade, feelings of drowsiness and restlessness, the food lying heavily on the stomach, accompanied with acidity and belching up of wind. These symptoms usually originate from a disordered condition of the stomach or a torpid liver. Persons so affected, if they take one or two heavy colds, and if the cough in these cases be suddenly checked, will find the stomach and liver clogged, remaining torpid and inactive, and almost before they are aware the lungs are a mass of sores, and ulcerated, the result of which is death. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup is an expectorant which does not contain opium or anything calculated to check a cough suddenly. Schenck's Sea Weed Tonic dissolves the food, mixes with the gastric juices of the stomach, aids digestion, and creates a ravenous appetite. When the bowels are costive, skin sallow, or the symptoms otherwise of a bilious tendency, Schenck's Mandrake Pills are required. These medicines are prepared only by J. H. SCHENCK & SON,
N. E. corner Sixth and Arch sts., Phila.
And are for sale by all druggists and dealers. eod 1m oct3

CHILDREN TEETHING

MRS. WINSLOW'S
SOOTHING SYRUP,
For Children Teething.

greatly facilitates the process of teething by softening the gums, reducing all inflammation—will allay all pain and spasmodic action, and is

Sure to Regulate the Bowels.

Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and

Relief and Health to your Infants.

We have put up and sold this article for years, and CAN SAY IN CONFIDENCE AND TRUTH of it, what we have never been able to say of any other medicine—NEVER HAS IT FAILED IN A SINGLE INSTANCE TO EFFECT A CURE, when timely used. Never did we know an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who used it. On the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak in terms of highest commendation of its magical effects and medical virtues. We speak in this matter "WHAT WE DO KNOW," after years of experience, AND PLEDGE OUR REPUTATION FOR THE FULFILMENT OF WHAT WE HERE DECLARE. In almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in fifteen or twenty minutes after the syrup is administered.

This valuable preparation has been used with NEVER FAILING SUCCESS in

Thousands of Cases.

It not only relieves the child from pain, but invigorates the stomach and bowels, corrects acidity, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. It will almost instantly relieve Griping in the Bowels and Wind Colic.

We believe it the BEST AND SUREST REMEDY IN THE WORLD, in all cases of DYSENTERY AND DIARRHŒA IN CHILDREN, whether it arises from teething or from any other cause. We would say to every mother who has a child suffering from any of the foregoing complaints—DO NOT LET YOUR PREJUDICES, NOR THE PREJUDICES OF OTHERS, stand between your suffering child and the relief that will be SURE—yes, ABSOLUTELY SURE—to follow the use of this medicine, if timely used. Full directions for using will accompany each bottle.

Be sure and call for

H.W. JOHNS' PATENT
ASBESTOS

ALL COLORS, READY FOR USE.

Opinions of the Boston Press.

H. W. Johns' Patent Asbestos Paints stand very high. Nothing is used in their preparation but the purest and best linseed oil and colors in combination with the Patent "Asbestos Paint Body," which adds an elastic quality never before attained in any paint.—Boston Journal.

Less coloring matter is required in the manufacture of the Asbestos Paints than in any other liquid or ready-mixed paints, they possess a super or body, and are not liable to "chalk," crack or scale. The Asbestos Paints are especially adapted for factories, exposed brick walls, fences, iron work, villas, cottages, outbuildings, etc.—Boston Daily Advertiser.

Many paints are called fire proof, with reference, no doubt, to the pigments and not the oils with which they are combined. The Asbestos paints will be found a protection against this element superior to any.—Boston Daily Globe.

Competition in price is not intended with the so-called cheap paints with which the market is flooded, nor with "chemical" or other paints, which are composed largely of lime, water, and other inexpensive ingredients.—Boston Evening Traveller.

In fact, Vegetine is the best remedy yet discovered for the above diseases, and is the only reliable Blood Purifier yet placed before the public.

UNQUALIFIED APPRECIATION.
BOSTON, Nov 18, 1875
H. R. STEVENS Esq
DEAR SIR—During the past five years I have had ample opportunity to judge of the merits of VEGETINE. My wife has used it for complaints attending a lady of delicate health, with more beneficial results than anything else which she ever tried I have given it to my children under almost every circumstance attending a large family, and always with marked benefit. I have taken it myself with such great benefit that I cannot find words to express my unqualified appreciation of its goodness
While performing my duties as a Police Officer in this city, it has been my lot to fall in with a great deal of sickness I unhesitatingly recommend Vegetine and I never knew of a case where it did not prove all that was claimed for it. Particularly in cases of a debilitated or impoverished state of the blood its effects are really wonderful, and for all complaints arising from an impure state of the blood it appears to work like a charm, and I do not believe there are any circumstances under which Vegetine can be used with injurious results, and it will always afford me pleasure to give any further information as to what I know about Vegetine
